SHERMAN'S PRICES TO REMAIN SAME

Proprietor of Royal Cancels Notice of Increase Until Alley Owners Take Action.

By R. D. THOMAS.

Indications now are that the bowlers for some time will continue to pay 10 cents a game instead of 15, or 25 fo two, as proposed by alley owners. It seems that the latter, after hearing considerable adverse comment by the pinspillers, are not so taken up with the matter, although, as has been the case since the idea of increasing the price was first brought forward, they appear to have no definite decision in Frank Sherman, proprietor of the Royal, had planned to get the alley owners together yesterday, but owing to other business was unable to accomplish anything along these lines.

Notice has been posted for a week or more at the Royal that the increase would be effective today, but Sherman said this morning that the original price would remain until general action is taken by the alley owners.

All women bowlers interested in the proposed duckpin league for the fair sex should be on hand at the Palace tonight at 8 o'clock. A meeting has been called by George L. Isemann and Morris Cafritz, responsible for the or-ganization, at which officers will be elected and a line obtained on the teams.

Should the league be successfully organized. Cafritz will have four new alleys installed on the second floor of the Palace for the exclusive use of Another women's league is contemplated to be composed of representative teams from the various alleys. This will wait, however, until it is seen how the Palace League turns out. It is understood that an exceptional number of women bowiers are interested in the league expected to be formed tonight, and should it be put through probably will be the only organization of its kind in this section of the country. There is a women's league here, which rolls at the Arcade, but it boasts of only four teams.

Navy, which won the championship of the Departmental League last year, gives promise of repeating the performance, although the Marine team is offering some stiff opposition. At present Navy holds a slight lead in first position and practically all the league records, including the best single game, MI; the largest set, 1,645; total spares, 137; and the best game average, 518. The team is composed of the same players as last year, Goddard, McCormick, Auguste, Holland, Shipley, Fowler, and Risler, all capable bowlers.

Johnny Mace, at one time a local amateur baseball star, is assistant manager of the Grand Central alleys. Mace is under contret to the Dallas club, of the Texas League, for whom he has played behind the bat several seasons, and will return to the team in the spring. Mace has been playing minor league ball during the last five or six years, which have seen him in nearly as many different circuits.

Nick Chaconas, the bowler with the smooth motion, holds the record for flat game in the Masonic League with 97.

After having sailed through five sets a winner, dropping only one game, the leading Continental team, of the District League, received a jolt last night when it dropped three to the Grand Centrals. The Centinentals still top the league with fourteen games won and four lost, but the Grand Centrals and Royals are only one game behind. Mayhew was high man last night with 146, 102, and 111.

Ramm's 129 enabled Corby's Bakery team to win the first game of its match with the Pirates in the Mt. Pleasant League by 532 to 539, and McCambridge's 166 gave the Pirates a victory by 471 to 470 in the second. Corby took the third

His father: stars.

In the case of C. N. Sheviin, the name of cone of Yale's most famous players and captains and coach is simply borne, not inherited. Young Shevlin modestly claims that he is plodding along with the hope of winning a place on the freshman clam, although he is not a blood relative of the famous and picturesque Tom Sheviin, Yale, 1906, who died an untimely death, following an attack of pneumonia last December, soon after his return to his home in St. Paul direct from his wonderful achievement of taking the worst-licked football eleven in Yale history and, in two weeks, whipping it into shape to defeat Princeton.

"Fudge" Heffelfinger. Tom Shevlin's fellow townsman in the Northwest, has a son who is also a member of the freshman class, and who, like his daddy, is a husky guard and is a regular member of the class of 1920, and promises to be heard from this fail in the games of the clas heard from this fall in the games of the class team.

His father, a member of the class of '91, is regarded by many as Yale's greatest guard. During the four years he was a member of the Yale eleven 104 101 101 he played a game never matched during as many seasons by a Yale guard.

It is now certain that another Corbin will represent Yale on the gridiron this fall. Walker Corbin, son of "Pa" Corbin, is center rush of the second eleven, and although not nearly as sturdy and rugged as his redoubtable sire, will probably be in some of Yale's sire, will probably be in some of Yale's cored upon.

Sons and Brothers to

Possible to Make Football Line-up of Names to Conjure With at New Haven-In Years to Come They Should Win Laurels for Elis.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 1.—There are more sons and brothers of famous Yale football players and other athletes who are now enrolled as undergraduates on the solution of the collection of the solution of the solutio football players and other athletes who are now enrolled as undergraduates on the college teams than ever before, and it would be possible today, from the candidates in training for the football squads, to make up an eleven formed of players with the following names: Ends, Shevlin and Murphy; tackles. Newell and Tatt; guards, Heffelfinger and Philbin; center, Corbin; quarter-back, Jones; halfbacks, Metcalf and Winter; fullback, Hutchison,

The line-up is calculated to make the reader, if he has followed Yale athletics for years, at first rub his eyes and then to revive memories of past Yale gridiron careers in which these names have been headliners. To know here he was a horse by play. names have been headliners. To know however, that they are borne by players of another generation than the original holders is a revelation. Yet the present Yale football squad contains all these players, and in every instance except one they are near relatives of some of Yale's most famous griding or other athletic stars.

A present candidate of the Yale team, who has had two former mem-bers of the family on Yale elevens, is Gerald Philbin. His brothers. Steve and Holliday, were members of the Eliback field eight and four years ago, respectively. No faster halfbacks than either have worn Yale uniforms. Gerald is the first of his family to take a place in the rush line.

A member of the present Yale varsity squad whose brother shone among the fleetest of Yale halfbacks of gridiron history is Stanley Metcalf, who is also a rapid-action backfield member, aithough too prone to slight injury to be sure of retaining a place long in any gridiron campaign. His brother, Harold, was halfback for Yale a dozen years ago and was one of the Yale's best second basemen.

R. Wallie Winter, jr., is another descendant of a Yale athlete. His father was an All-American tackle for Yale just a quarter of a century ago, and Wallie, jr., played halfback for the freshmen last fall. Although a trifle light for regular varsity service, nemade an excellent showing on the 1999 team.

Ashbael Newell, 1890, a giant of the Yale rush line in 1889, left a son here two weeks ago who has a difficult task to equal the rowing or the football fame of his father.

Although Rex Hutchinson, the 20-pound fullback, comes of an athletic family, he is not the brother of Guy Hutchinson, Ysie, 1905. His brother, Dan Hutchinson, played quarterback at University of Pennsylvania several years argo.

Chivington to Face

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The American As-, sociation will hold no special meeting four of its club owners. The request of special meeting can be called, and as president Wathen, of the Louisville club, vice president of the association, has declined to join the movement of the four clubs requesting the meeting, no official notice will be taken of the request until the return of President Chivington from a hunting trip. Mr. Chivington will not return, it was said at his office, for several days.

Certain club owners, according to reports, will strongly oppose the re-election of President Chivington at the annual meeting of the association, which probably will be held here early in December.

Wathen, according to advices from Louisville, declined to say what clubs had asked him to join in the request for a special meeting. Neither would he reveal the apparent purpose of the meet-

His reason for refusing to join in the request, he said, was because he considered the movement unfair to President Chivington during the latter's absence on a vacation trip.

WHELCHEL AND ORR FIGHTING FOR JOB

Washington Boy Seems to Have Edge Over Opponent.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1.—The fight tetween Whelchel, the plebe from Western High School, Washington, D. C., and Orr, last year's substitute to Captain Miles, continues to hold the attention of the Navy coaches. Whelche seems to have an edge over Orr in the centest for quarterback, though the latter is playing wonderful football.
Yesterday Whelchel was given first call with the varsity and he drove the team with great speed, besides showing excellent control of the forward pass. Orr was then given a trial, and he, too showed to good advantage.

A long scrimmage was held yesterday and the first team managed to score one touchdown against the scrubs.
